Andrea Reid Named President of Angel Moms

Andrea Reid, Esq. of Delray Beach, marital and family law attorney at Isaacs & Reid, P.A., is new president of the Angel Moms, the volunteer corps of Place of Hope at The Leighan and David Rinker Campus in Boca Raton.

Angel Moms, the volunteer corps of Place of Hope at The Leighan and David Rinker Campus, installed its new leadership board at the Angel Moms' Founder's Day Awards Luncheon on Dec. 3. The new officers will lead programs, events, recruitment and volunteer efforts that help create a nurturing, family-style environment for the state's most vulnerable residents.

Place of Hope at The Leighan and David Rinker Campus in Boca Raton, an expansion of the Palm Beach Gardens-based Place of Hope, is home to eight foster boys in its Genesis Cottage and up to eight young women who aged out of foster care in the Alumni Impact Girls Cottage.

Angel Moms began recruiting friends and supporters when Place of Hope took over the campus from The Haven in 2013. Since then, the volunteer corps has swelled to 140 members, who reside from Wellington to Parkland, and is always welcoming new members to the fold.
